

CONTRIBUTORS

Calvin Elliker is assistant professor of Musicology and head of the Music Library at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, a position he has filled since 1990. He holds an undergraduate degree in Music from Wisconsin Conservatory, a master's in Musicology from the University of Pittsburgh, an M.L.S. from the University of Wisconsin–Milwaukee, and a Ph.D. in library and information science from the University of Illinois. Recent publications include articles in Notes and a contribution to Music Publishing and Collecting: Essays in Honor of Donald W. Krummel (GSLIS, University of Illinois, 1994). He is the author of Stephen Collins Foster: A Guide to Research (Garland, 1988).

Rosa María Fernández de Zamora is a researcher and professor at the Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México (UNAM) in Mexico City. She holds a degree in Spanish literature from the Universidad Iberoamericana in Mexico City and undergraduate and master's degrees in library science from UNAM. Active in professional library associations, she served as president of the Asociación Mexicana de Bibliotecarios (AMBAC) from 1985 to 1987 and as chair of the Latin American section of IFLA from 1991 to 1993. Special interests include national bibliography, Mexican library history, and library planning as it relates to services and buildings.

Rosalee McReynolds is serials librarian at Loyola University Library in New Orleans. She holds an undergraduate degree from the University of Colorado, a master's in liberal arts from Boston University, and a master's in library science from Simmons College. Interests include the role of women in the history of American librarianship and intellectual freedom issues between 1930 and 1960.

Yuan Zhou is head of the East Asian Library at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis. A former faculty member in the Department of Library and Information Science at Peking University in Beijing and a former Fulbright Scholar, he holds an undergraduate degree from Peking University and a master's and Ph.D. in library and information science from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. He is the author of a chapter entitled "What Chinese Educators May Learn from Their American Colleagues," in Translating an International Education to a National Environment (Scarecrow Press, 1990), and an article, "From Smart Guesser to Smart Navigator: Collection Development for Research Libraries in a Network Environment," in Library Trends 42:4 (1994). Research interests include the publishing explosion in China and its impact on East Asian collections of research libraries, and computer literacy in academic libraries.